

AND NOW FOR SOME STAFF NEWS...

Mimma, and her brothers, Santo and Pino will be going home for their usual two months rest - whilst away we'll get them to brush up on a few more Italian dishes to add to our menu! Do you know they tell their mother what food to cook for them for when they arrive home. She loves to see them and spoils them rotten during January and February every year.

Lynn's eldest daughter is about to take her driving test, so we'll make sure Richard and Sue and our coach driver's know about this potential hazard! We can't believe Tiffany is old enough to drive. Time is sure flying by.

A CHRISTMAS GREETING FROM SANTA!

A ho ho ho greeting to all our friends

We hope you've all received our 2009 brochure by now, and yes can you believe it, 2009 is only a few weeks away. We hope everybody has had a happy and healthy 2008 up to now.

At the moment we are in the middle of our very popular Turkey and Tinsel breaks which means our Tuesday nights are Christmas nights, Thursday nights are New Year's Eve and Wednesday are somewhere in-between; not to mention Christmas week-ends too. Santa and the reindeer are very confused!

HOTEL ENTERTAINMENT

One of our resident entertainers, Chris is back with us after being ill for four weeks. We're delighted to have him back on track and told him to hang in there until January by which time we'll be generous and give him two months holiday.

GLEDEVON HOTEL GOES WIRELESS!

Advanced computer technology is coming to the Glendevon. We are getting wireless Internet connection for guests which means at the end of your holiday with us, we'll give you a test and you can only go home when you've mastered it !!!

Whilst online you can always check out our website www.glendevonhotel.com

THE GAMBIAN MADVENTURE

Our fund raising is well on target for our trip to The Gambia in January and the villagers are looking forward to the teams arrival to start work on the project.

Richard, as you know, never sits still so with less work to be done at the Glendevon, he will instead be getting covered in cement and splinters under the hot African sun. Mind you so will Sue - she has packed the first aid kit and the sun cream. We thank everyone who has supported us through the raffles at the hotel and no doubt you will hear all about it when we come back.

You can find out more about this project at www.rotaract.org.uk/rop.

BOURNEMOUTH NEWS

Unfortunately the artificial reef is not going to be completed on target which was December 2008, so not to worry, there's no need to bring your surf boards down until the middle of 2009!

The European Christmas Market returns to Bournemouth on the 29th November to 21st December 2008, adding to the town's fantastic festive feel!

Wooden huts will be lining the Town Square selling Christmas goodies, traditional food and drink and gifts for the family.

Visitors can wander around the shops and wooden chalets or simply enjoy delicious food such as a tasty 'Bratwurst' (German Sausage), or a 'Gluhwein' (German Mulled Wine) at the popular Windmill Bar.

A WEDDING IN THE FAMILY

We must tell you that Connor, who is now aged 8, stole the show with his speech as Best Man at Lisa's (our youngest daughter) wedding and made Hazel very proud of her eldest son.
